POWER GEAR

RAM IT!

Simple things can sometimes go a long way. A simple compliment can make someone's day, or a simple act of kindness can show a person just how caring you really are. When it comes to cars, on the other hand, simple power modifications may not help all that much. However, the improved e-Ram Electric Supercharger from e-Racing Motorsports is a simple modification that can help your engine in a big way. The company claims that this product will produce a 4-6 percent increase in horsepower. The supercharger works with the power from your battery and operates under wide-open throttle. It puts out an equivalent to 1 psi of boost and can be stacked with more to produce up to 1.7 psi. Sure, this invention may be too good to be true, but all I can say is that e-Racing Motorsports offers a money-back guarantee if you are not satisfied. So make your car nice and whiney with the aid of this supercharger!

KILL THE CAT

When it comes to exhaust flow, every enthusiast knows that having the stock catalytic converter on the exhaust system is like pinching your urethra while urinating; it impedes flow and hurts the system. In order to gain the most power from a header or exhaust system, the pinch, or stock cat, must be eliminated. This is exactly what the new RACE header for the '01-03 Honda Civic EX and '02-04 SI from DC Sports does. The header is ceramic-coated with a 4-2-1 design. It is made with CNC mandrel bends and machined flanges to eliminate exhaust leaks. This piece is not CARB-approved and is only legal for non-street driven vehicles, so that you don't kill the ozone while driving to the grocery store. If maximum power from your exhaust is what you're looking for, pick one of these up and let it flow!
